Your guide to exploring Tassie wine.
with things to see and do along the way!
The VinØ Tasmania program focuses on the following key areas of vineyard and winery management:

- The health of our soils, on which we rely on for high quality wine grapes
- Managing pest and disease pressures in an environmentally responsible manner
- Biodiversity – using natural flora and fauna to support land and vineyard health
- Measuring and minimising water use in vineyards
- Responsibly managing waste and recycling
- Looking after our valuable vineyard personnel, and the broader community
- Understanding the role that members play in biosecurity, with respect to the longevity of the sector
- Managing aspects in the winery to ensure efficiency, quality and responsibility.
- Measuring, managing, reducing and mitigating our carbon emissions with an aim to achieve carbon neutral.

The VinØ Tasmania program provides a framework on the world’s best possible practices across each of these critical areas. Tasmanian wine producers use this framework to monitor, measure, report, benchmark and constantly improve their sustainability practices.

CONGRATULATIONS
on exploring Australia’s best wine region!

OK, WE MAY BE A LITTLE BIASED, BUT WE ARE SURE YOU WILL THOROUGHLY ENJOY THE DELICIOUS WINE FROM OUR LITTLE ISLAND WITH LATITUDE.

2020 has been a challenging year for many of us and we've been delighted and humbled by the support and interest in Tassie wines from so many around the globe.

You—our Tassie wine lovers—have sought out your favourite wine producers, joined wine clubs and ordered wine online. As hospitality and tourism has reopened, you've demanded Tasmanian wines in your local wine bars, restaurants and bottle shops. And you've chosen (or hopefully will soon) to visit Tasmania and its cellar doors and meet our talented wine producers.

We are biased, we know, but there are a lot of reasons why you should absolutely be applauded for your support! Read on...

TASSIE WINE IS AWESOME!

• Tasmania’s wines are among the best on the entire planet
• We only produce a thimbleful of wine (1% of Australia’s total wine), but it’s the best (over 4% of Australia’s wine value)
• Our people - Tasmanians - are the best kind of people, particularly the ones that grow and make things
• Sparkling wine (yum)
• Pinot noir (the “heartbreak” grape)
• Riesling, chardonnay, pinot gris, shiraz (or syrah, for the refined) and all sorts of other wonderful, delicious grape varieties that call Tasmania home
• We drink most of it ourselves - only 5% is exported, the rest is sold in Australia and much of it is only available in Tasmania itself.

Unbelievably, we almost didn’t have a wine sector at all! A lot of people said it couldn’t be done, that Tasmania was too cold for wine grapes, that it would never amount to anything! Despite these detractors, some brave and determined people made sure those people ate their words (and drank our delicious wine).

Tasmania has a whole lot of wine history that most don’t know about – its first recorded vineyard was planted way back in 1823 and Australia’s first sparkling wine was made in Tasmania in 1826. One of the very first experiments with grapevines in Tasmania resulted in a wine that was proudly shown at a Paris exhibition in 1848. There are some great stories about adventurous Tasmanians having a go at growing grapes in different parts of the island throughout the 1800s, with varying success.

However, after this brave early start, the island’s wine production all but disappeared until the 1950s. At that time, some enterprising migrants from Europe recognised the similarities in Tasmania of the soils and climate with the great grape growing regions of their homelands, and began to challenge and disprove the theory that Tasmania was too far south for grapes to ripen.

It’s fair to say that they were right! Today, Tasmania has a global reputation for outstanding wines that well exceeds its modest size, winning high praise from wine lovers, judges and critics around the world.
As an island, we have a cool climate which is moderated by the ocean. We’re about 240 kilometres from the Australian mainland (also known as the “big island”). To our south is Antarctica, there’s no land to our west until you reach South America, while New Zealand is to our east.

We have mild spring and summer temperatures, with warm autumn days and cool nights, which allows our grapes to slowly and steadily ripen without extreme changes in temperature. This means our wines jump out of the glass with their flavour intensity and make your mouth water with their refreshing structure.

Tasmania is a single wine region, but it is incredibly diverse, as you’ll taste in our wines. Vineyards are planted across the south, east and north of the island, broadly located in seven wine growing areas (check out the map on page 19).

Vineyards that are very close to one another can vary quite a lot in terms of when grapes ripen and are harvested, as well as the flavours and characteristics in each individual wine. Every season, every vineyard, every wine is different, and the best way to experience that diversity is to come and visit!

OUR WINE PRODUCERS WOULD LOVE TO HEAR FROM YOU – VISIT THEIR WEBSITE, CHECK OUT THEIR SOCIALS, JOIN THEIR WINE CLUB OR #BUYDIRECT!

Please visit Wine Tasmania’s website WWW.WINETASMANIA.COM.AU for further information on the island’s wine scene, contact details for wine producers and more.
WHEN YOU VISIT TASMANIA, YOU’RE IN FOR A TREAT!

Tasmania (or Tassie, as the locals know it) is one of the most spectacular places in the world. Lush green corners of paradise, picture perfect beaches, snow capped mountains, breathtaking forests, waterfalls and lakes – you’ll find just about every kind of scenery across our landscape. Not to mention our cute, cuddly and curious wildlife.

You’ll quickly find that Tasmania’s vineyards are generally not found on flat land but follow the slope of a hill or the curve of a valley. This makes for diverse and distinctive wines, with no two vineyards and seasons the same. Even wines from the same vineyard will be different across vintages – you’ll be able to taste the results of the season in each glass.

From converted heritage stables to ultra modern cellar doors, chat and kick the dirt with our wine producers to find out why they have chosen to grow grapes and make wine in our extreme conditions on the edge of the world.

Tasmanian wine is crafted to complement our island’s produce, so find a view somewhere and feast like a local! Pair a delicious Tassie pinot noir with slow pulled pork, a glass of sparkling with some freshly shucked oysters, chardonnay with Tassie’s own scallop pies or local cheeses with a late harvest riesling.

Tasmania’s vineyards stretch across the island, with seven distinct areas divided into four wine experiences as shown in this guide. All are within easy reach of major centres and along the journey to some of Tasmania’s iconic attractions and experiences.
Varietal wine trails: follow your own path

If you have a favourite wine or two, you can create your own itinerary focusing on your preferred tipples. Create your own Sparkling or Pinot Noir Wine Trail or whatever takes your fancy. All you have to do is visit www.winetasmania.com.au/wine-trails and select your favourite variety/varieties.

Other things to see and do

You will find some information in this guide on other complementary things you might like to see and do as you’re travelling around. You’ll also find loads of information to help you plan your visit at www.discovertasmania.com. You may also like to explore complementary food and beverage trails during your visit, such as the Tasmanian Cider Trail www.tascidertrail.com, Whisky Trail www.taswhiskytrail.com and Seafood Trail www.tsic.org.au.

Please note

If you’re reading this as you plan your visit and navigate your way around the island’s cellar doors, please note that you need to get in touch with the vineyards you’d like to visit in advance, as opening hours and offerings have changed during the crazy year that has been 2020. Our wine producers would love to give you the best experience they possibly can, which means they need to know when you’re coming! Please touch base to confirm opening hours and – if you really want to avoid any disappointment – book your visit! Cellar door capacities vary and can be limited.

Quality, not quantity

Don’t be that person.
In Tasmania, it is all about quality, not quantity – Wine Tasmania encourages responsible consumption of alcohol and recommends the following: don’t drink on an empty stomach, drink plenty of water, use spittoons, take a guided wine tour with one of the many specialists or, if you plan to drive, choose a designated driver.

Take me home!

Wine producers with this icon displayed are participants in the Tasmanian Mixed Dozen freight scheme. This allows you to purchase a bottle or two from different vineyards as you travel around and have wine dispatched to your home address once you’ve reached a dozen bottles. Present your purchased wines (in dozen lots) at the last participating vineyard on your travels from which you purchase wine – they’ll let you know the cost of freight and it will be sent straight to you.

Australia Post is our preferred provider for safe delivery of your mixed dozen wines. Your wine can be delivered to your home, Parcel locker or Parcel Collect at your choice of Post Office.

Lush. Bountiful. Welcoming. Untamed. And a good dose of fine produce straight from the source. We’re talking farm stalls flanked by rich red soils and crays plucked straight from the ocean by friendly small-town folk. Beneath broad skies, nature’s dance stretches from ancient Cradle Mountain to sandy coves dotting Bass Strait. In these parts, we take our time. Don’t forget to breathe deeply. After all, the Roaring Forties winds deliver some of the freshest air on the planet.

North West Tasmanians are understated but proud of their patch. Its boundaries are fringed with mountain tiers and it’s the gateway to King Island and the West Coast.

After driving through the region’s fertile food growing regions, it’s only natural that you’ll be keen to taste what they’re producing. Local cooks and chefs will present you with the best the region has to offer. They showcase more than nourishment - they’re offering you a link to the growers and the land they love.

And every mouthful you savour in the North West becomes more special when you learn the stories behind the outstanding food and beverages on offer.

Experience first-hand supremely fresh fruit and vegetables sourced from roadside stalls or the paddock to plate experience of eating food that was sourced from local ingredients. Sample seaside berry farms, highland truffles and artisan cheeses and the wine, of course, the wine.

Generosity and token dairy cows come standard.

THINGS TO SEE AND DO

• Walk to spectacular Dove Lake and take in the stunning wilderness views in the Cradle Mountain National Park.

• Visit the Makers’ Workshop in Burnie, this contemporary structure is a ‘must see’ and supports local artisans, who demonstrate their skills and techniques on site.

• Follow the Cradle Coast Tasting Trail – a flavoursome journey through rolling green fields from Table Cape to seaside berry farms, highland truffles, artisan cheese and tree-to-bottle ciders.

• Marvel at the 1,900 trees of the Tasmanian Arboretum at Eugenana, home to around 80 local bird species. Platypus can be reliably seen most days in Founder’s Lake.

• Stroll the shore in easy going seaside villages of Ulverstone, Penguin and Wynyard. Visit the popular Penguin market.

OUR GRAPES ARE PRECIOUS

Our grapes and vines need to be very carefully nurtured in order to produce the outstanding wines you’ll be enjoying as you travel around. Please do not enter any vineyards, as you may unknowingly be carrying unwanted pests or diseases that could cause great damage.

MARIONS VINEYARD

Cynthea was just five years old when her family moved from San Francisco to grow grapes in the Tamar Valley. Now the second generation is farming and making wines with organic and biodynamic principles, nurturing soil health and growing kids and worms for the next generation on one of Tasmania’s most spectacular vineyard sites.
Nurture your soul with boundless experiences and leave behind life as you know it. From scenic drives through cool climate vineyards, to historic townships and heritage estates, to adventure nestled in the Tasmanian wilderness, unveil the best that Northern Tasmania has to offer.

Feast on fresh produce or chat with designers and craft makers eager to showcase their work.

Launceston (the largest city in the region) is a vibrant hub for food, wine, arts and culture. There’s also a touch of the wilderness, with Cataract Gorge not far from the city centre.

The city itself straddles the beautiful Tamar River, which defines the heart of northern Tasmania. The river’s generous life-giving waterways meander through the hills and plains, beaches and bush.

At the river’s head is the city of Launceston. At its mouth, the wide sandy beaches of Tasmania’s north coast.

On its banks, vineyards and cellar doors snuggle side by side along with lavender plantations, strawberry farms and picturesque orchards.

Cellar door tastings are a specialty of Northern Tasmania – there are some magnificent vineyards offering superb views and gourmet experiences: many of the makers will greet you and happily spend time talking about their craft.

With rich farmlands, dedicated makers, delightful food and wine coupled with unimaginable beauty – Launceston and Tasmania’s north is the perfect holiday destination.

Sparkling
Tasmania is known as the country’s best sparkling wine region. Sparkling wines, mostly blends of pinot noir and chardonnay, are usually produced in the traditional bottle-fermented method. Also produced are blanc de blancs (white of whites [grapes]) and blanc de noir (white of black [or red grapes]) made from chardonnay and pinot noir respectively.

Pinot Noir
Tasmania’s most widely planted red variety and one of the most difficult to grow successfully, hence its nickname of the ‘heartbreak grape’. This is a variety perfectly suited to Tasmanian conditions which regularly produce soft, luscious and strongly perfumed wines.

Chardonnay
Tassie’s cool climate slowly ripens grapes, which brings great intensity and flavour to the wines. Chardonnay is one of the varieties which shows this beautiful fruit intensity. It’s a bit different to other chardonnay from around the country – more elegant and refreshing (and designed to be enjoyed with food).

Riesling
A variety which flourishes in Tasmania’s climate, producing subtle but distinctly differing styles. These are zesty, mouth watering wines, made to last. Intense lime, apple and citrus characters are hallmarks of Tasmanian riesling.

Pinot Gris/Pinot Grigio
Same grape, different styles and you will find delicious examples of both in Tasmania. From the richer luscious gris style to the crunchy, zesty and fresh grigio style, expect flavours of pear, almond, apples and honey. As with all Tasmanian wines, enjoy with some of our local produce. Yum.

With the Hazards Vineyard as your muse, it’s hard not to have the stunning scenery influence the way you approach winemaking in Tasmania!
Our grapes and vines need to be very carefully nurtured in order to produce the outstanding wines you’ll be enjoying as you travel around. Please do not enter any vineyards, as you may unknowingly be carrying unwanted pests or diseases that could cause great damage.

On top of a growing reputation for its edgy arts and music scene, Hobart’s world class food and wine, history and heritage blend together to make Australia’s southernmost capital city a must-see destination.

It’s the gateway to southern Tasmania and it doesn’t really matter whether you love trekking into the wilds, sipping on a crisp riesling or venturing deep into an underground museum. There’s a little something for everyone in a place so compact that a few days will feel like a week. With short travel times between adventures, you can be atop Mount Wellington and swimming at a beach on the same day, cruising up the River Derwent and meeting a local artist in Salamanca on the very same afternoon.

The beauty of this capital city is that everything is close to Hobart. Those eager to explore beyond the city centre in any direction will stumble across vineyards, beaches, forests, historic towns, markets, museums and mountains right next door to the city itself.

And there’s good reason well-known foodies have settled in southern Tasmania. The soil is rich, the water and air pure, and innovative locals serve up paddock to plate goodness. Growers and makers deliver everything from soft goat’s cheese, smoked salmon and roadside apples to world class sparkling wine. Pick your own fresh produce direct from the source or pull up at a seat at a stylish eatery.

Tasmania may look little on the map, but it’s brimming with things to do. Whether you’re into art and culture, outdoor adventure or have a penchant for exploring the past, Tasmania has plenty to fill your day. Pull on some boots and venture into the wilderness, meet a maker, drive through vineyard landscapes or get up close to a Tassie devil. Perhaps you like the idea of cruising our waterways or browsing colourful market stalls. There are things to experience here that you can’t do anywhere else on the planet.

Time to get out a pen and paper – it could be a quite a list.

ANNA POOLEY
POOLEY WINES

For Anna Pooley, making wine is about community. As a child, she loved being part of her family’s first harvest and it sparked a fascination that never ceased. In high demand, she worked for some of Australia’s biggest names in wine. Today she’s returned to Pooley as an important member of Tasmania’s wine community and its first third-generation winemaking family.

With over 55 years of combined experience in the Southern Tasmanian wine industry, Darren and Jackie of Puddleduck Vineyard in the Coal River Valley look forward to your visit to our fun, family owned vineyard. Grown, made and sold 100% onsite using sustainable practices including being insecticide free for over 13 years thanks to our flock of guinea fowl.

Gill and Todd have been making wine in the Coal River Valley since 1999. Brinktop started when they purchased the old Killara Farm between the village of Richmond and Sorell. Eight hectares of vines include pinot noir, chardonnay, tempranillo and shiraz. Tasting and sales are offered directly from their onsite winery.
Keep an eye out for this symbol on wine bottles, websites and promotional material, as well as at cellar door if you’re visiting Tasmania.

Being located so far south, on an island exposed to the Roaring Forties, presents unique challenges for our growers and makers. Rain, lack of rain, hail, snow, wind (lots of wind), but also plentiful sunshine – it makes it hard and risky to craft these wines, but our people are very talented.

Part of their skill comes through application of the VinØ (pronounced vin zero) Tasmania Program, a way to measure, monitor and improve sustainability practices.

This program ensures that Tasmania’s hard-working wine producers are doing everything they can to produce very high-quality wine without negative impacts on the environment or local community.

VinØ Tasmania program members understand the connection with the land and people and recognise that we are custodians with a responsibility to future generations.
The VinØ Tasmania program focuses on the following key areas of vineyard and winery management:

- The health of our soils, on which we rely on for high quality wine grapes
- Managing pest and disease pressures in an environmentally responsible manner
- Biodiversity – using natural flora and fauna to support land and vineyard health
- Measuring and minimising water use in vineyards
- Responsibly managing waste and recycling
- Looking after our valuable vineyard personnel, and the broader community
- Understanding the role that members play in biosecurity, with respect to the longevity of the sector
- Managing aspects in the winery to ensure efficiency, quality and responsibility.
- Measuring, managing, reducing and mitigating our carbon emissions with an aim to achieve carbon neutral.

The VinØ Tasmania program provides a framework on the world’s best possible practices across each of these critical areas. Tasmanian wine producers use this framework to monitor, measure, report, benchmark and constantly improve their sustainability practices.
