CONGRATULATIONS

on exploring Australia's best wine region!

OK, WE MAY BE A LITTLE BIASED, BUT WE ARE SURE YOU WILL THOROUGHLY ENJOY THE DELICIOUS WINE FROM OUR LITTLE ISLAND WITH LATITUDE.

2020 has been a challenging year for many of us and we've been delighted and humbled by the support and interest in Tassie wines from so many around the globe.

You—our Tassie wine lovers—have sought out your favourite wine producers, joined wine clubs and ordered wine online. As hospitality and tourism has reopened, you've demanded Tasmanian wines in your local wine bars, restaurants and bottle shops. And you've chosen (or hopefully will soon) to visit Tasmania and its cellar doors and meet our talented wine producers.

We are biased, we know, but there are a lot of reasons why you should absolutely be applauded for your support! Read on...

TASSIE WINE IS AWESOME!

- Tasmania's wines are among the best on the entire planet
- We only produce a thimbleful of wine (1% of Australia's total wine), but it's the best (over 4% of Australia's wine value)
- Our people - Tasmanians - are the best kind of people, particularly the ones that grow and make things
- Sparkling wine (yum)
- Pinot noir (the "heartbreak" grape)
- Riesling, chardonnay, pinot gris, shiraz (or syrah, for the refined) and all sorts of other wonderful, delicious grape varieties that call Tasmania home
- We drink most of it ourselves - only 5% is exported, the rest is sold in Australia and much of it is only available in Tasmania itself.

Unbelievably, we almost didn't have a wine sector at all! A lot of people said it couldn't be done, that Tasmania was too cold for wine grapes, that it would never amount to anything! Despite these detractors, some brave and determined people made sure those people ate their words (and drank our delicious wine).

Tasmania has a whole lot of wine history that most don't know about - its first recorded vineyard was planted way back in 1823 and Australia's first sparkling wine was made in Tasmania in 1826. One of the very first experiments with grapevines in Tasmania resulted in a wine that was proudly shown at a Paris exhibition in 1848. There are some great stories about adventurous Tasmanians having a go at growing grapes in different parts of the island throughout the 1800s, with varying success.

However, after this brave early start, the island's wine production all but disappeared until the 1950s. At that time, some enterprising migrants from Europe recognised the similarities in Tasmania of the soils and climate with the great grape growing regions of their homelands, and began to challenge and disprove the theory that Tasmania was too far south for grapes to ripen.

It's fair to say that they were right! Today, Tasmania has a global reputation for outstanding wines that well exceeds its modest size, winning high praise from wine lovers, judges and critics around the world.

As an island, we have a cool climate which is moderated by the ocean. We're about 240 kilometres from the Australian mainland (also known as the "big island"). To our south is Antarctica, there's no land to our west until you reach South America, while New Zealand is to our east.

We have mild spring and summer temperatures, with warm autumn days and cool nights, which allows our grapes to slowly and steadily ripen without extreme changes in temperature. This means our wines jump out of the glass with their flavour intensity and make your mouth water with their refreshing structure.

Tasmania is a single wine region, but it is incredibly diverse, as you'll taste in our wines. Vineyards are planted across the south, east and north of the island, broadly located in seven wine growing areas (check out the map on page 19).

Vineyards that are very close to one another can vary quite a lot in terms of when grapes ripen and are harvested, as well as the flavours and characteristics in each individual wine. Every season, every vineyard, every wine is different, and the best way to experience that diversity is to come and visit!

ENJOY SAFELY,
WINE TASMANIA

Visiting TASSIE

WHEN YOU VISIT TASMANIA, YOU'RE IN FOR A TREAT!

Tasmania (or Tassie, as the locals know it) is one of the most spectacular places in the world. Lush green corners of paradise, picture perfect beaches, snow capped mountains, breathtaking forests, waterfalls and lakes – you'll find just about every kind of scenery across our landscape. Not to mention our cute, cuddly and curious wildlife.

You'll quickly find that Tasmania's vineyards are generally not found on flat land but follow the slope of a hill or the curve of a valley. This makes for diverse and distinctive wines, with no two vineyards and seasons the same. Even wines from the same vineyard will be different across vintages – you'll be able to taste the results of the season in each glass.

From converted heritage stables to ultra modern cellar doors, chat and kick the dirt with our wine producers to find out why they have chosen to grow grapes and make wine in our extreme conditions on the edge of the world.

Tasmanian wine is crafted to complement our island's produce, so find a view somewhere and feast like a local! Pair a delicious Tassie pinot noir with slow pulled pork, a glass of sparkling with some freshly shucked oysters, chardonnay with Tassie's own scallop pies or local cheeses with a late harvest riesling.

Tasmania's vineyards stretch across the island, with seven distinct areas divided into four wine experiences as shown in this guide. All are within easy reach of major centres and along the journey to some of Tasmania's iconic attractions and experiences.

VARIETAL WINE TRAILS: FOLLOW YOUR OWN PATH

If you have a favourite wine or two, you can create your own itinerary focusing on your preferred tipples. Create your own Sparkling or Pinot Noir Wine Trail or whatever takes your fancy. All you have to do is visit www.winetasmania.com.au/wine-trails and select your favourite variety/varieties.

OTHER THINGS TO SEE AND DO

You will find some information in this guide on other complementary things you might like to see and do as you're travelling around. You'll also find loads of information to help you plan your visit at www.discovertasmania.com. You may also like to explore complementary food and beverage trails during your visit, such as the Tasmanian Cider Trail www.tascidertrail.com, Whisky Trail www.taswhiskytrail.com and Seafood Trail www.tsic.org.au.

PLEASE NOTE

If you're reading this as you plan your visit and navigate your way around the island's cellar doors, please note that you need to get in touch with the vineyards you'd like to visit in advance, as opening hours and offerings have changed during the crazy year that has been 2020. Our wine producers would love to give you the best experience they possibly can, which means they need to know when you're coming! Please touch base to confirm opening hours and – if you really want to avoid any disappointment – book your visit! Cellar door capacities vary and can be limited.

QUALITY, NOT QUANTITY

Don't be that person. In Tasmania, it is all about quality, not quantity – Wine Tasmania encourages responsible consumption of alcohol and recommends the following: don't drink on an empty stomach, drink plenty of water, use spittoons, take a guided wine tour with one of the many specialists or, if you plan to drive, choose a designated driver.

Take me home!

Wine producers with this icon displayed are participants in the Tasmanian Mixed Dozen freight scheme. This allows you to purchase a bottle or two from different vineyards as you travel around and have wine dispatched to your home address once you've reached a dozen bottles. Present your purchased wines (in dozen lots) at the last participating vineyard on your travels from which you purchase wine – they'll let you know the cost of freight and it will be sent straight to you. Australia Post is our preferred provider for safe delivery of your mixed dozen wines. Your wine can be delivered to your home, Parcel locker or Parcel Collect at your choice of Post Office.

NORTH WEST

THE CRADLE COAST

Lush. Bountiful. Welcoming. Untamed. And a good dose of fine produce straight from the source. We're talking farm stalls flanked by rich red soils and crays plucked straight from the ocean by friendly small-town folk. Beneath broad skies, nature's dance stretches from ancient Cradle Mountain to sandy coves dotting Bass Strait. In these parts, we take our time. Don't forget to breathe deeply. After all, the Roaring Forties winds deliver some of the freshest air on the planet.

North West Tasmanians are understated but proud of their patch. Its boundaries are fringed with mountain tiers and it's the gateway to King Island and the West Coast.

After driving through the region's fertile food growing regions, it's only natural that you'll be keen to taste what they're producing. Local cooks and chefs will present you with the best the region has to offer. They showcase more than nourishment - they're offering you a link to the growers and the land they love.

And every mouthful you savour in the North West becomes more special when you learn the stories behind the outstanding food and beverages on offer.

Experience first-hand supremely fresh fruit and vegetables sourced from roadside stalls or the paddock to plate experience of eating food that was sourced from local ingredients. Sample seaside berry farms, highland truffles and artisan cheeses and the wine, of course, the wine.

Generosity and token dairy cows come standard.

THINGS TO SEE AND DO

- Walk to spectacular Dove Lake and take in the stunning wilderness views in the Cradle Mountain National Park.
- Visit the Makers' Workshop in Burnie, this contemporary structure is a 'must see' and supports local artisans, who demonstrate their skills and techniques on site.
- Follow the Cradle Coast Tasting Trail – a flavoursome journey through rolling green fields from Table Cape to seaside berry farms, highland truffles, artisan cheese and tree-to-bottle cideries.
- Marvel at the 1,900 trees of the Tasmanian Arboretum at Eugenana, home to around 80 local bird species. Platypus can be reliably seen most days in Founder's Lake.
- Stroll the shore in easy going seaside villages of Ulverstone, Penguin and Wynyard. Visit the popular Penguin market.

OUR LITTLE ISLAND ENJOYS A GLOBAL REPUTATION AS A LEADING PRODUCER OF PREMIUM COOL CLIMATE WINES. HERE ARE SOME OF THE MORE POPULAR VARIETIES:

SPARKLING

Tasmania is known as the country's best sparkling wine region. Sparkling wines, mostly blends of pinot noir and chardonnay, are usually produced in the traditional bottle-fermented method. Also produced are blanc de blancs (white of whites [grapes]) and blanc de noir (white of black [or red grapes]) made from chardonnay and pinot noir respectively.

PINOT NOIR

Tasmania's most widely planted red variety and one of the most difficult to grow successfully, hence its nickname of the 'heartbreak grape'. This is a variety perfectly suited to Tasmanian conditions which regularly produce soft, luscious and strongly perfumed wines.

CHARDONNAY

Tassie's cool climate slowly ripens grapes, which brings great intensity and flavour to the wines. Chardonnay is one of the varieties which shows this beautiful fruit intensity. It's a bit different to other chardonnay from around the country – more elegant and refreshing (and designed to be enjoyed with food).

RIESLING

A variety which flourishes in Tasmania's climate, producing subtle but distinctly differing styles. These are zesty, mouth watering wines, made to last. Intense lime, apple and citrus characters are hallmarks of Tasmanian riesling.

PINOT GRIS/PINOT GRIGIO

Same grape, different styles and you will find delicious examples of both in Tasmania. From the richer luscious grigio style to the crunchy, zesty and fresh grigio style, expect flavours of pear, almond, apples and honey. As with all Tasmanian wines, enjoy with some of our local produce. Yum.

Touring HOBART & THE SOUTH

On top of a growing reputation for its edgy arts and music scene, Hobart's world class food and wine, history and heritage blend together to make Australia's southernmost capital city a must-see destination.

It's the gateway to southern Tasmania and it doesn't really matter whether you love trekking into the wilds, sipping on a crisp riesling or venturing deep into an underground museum. There's a little something for everyone in a place so compact that a few days will feel like a week. With short travel times between adventures, you can be atop Mount Wellington and swimming at a beach on the same day, cruising up the River Derwent and meeting a local artist in Salamanca on the very same afternoon.

The beauty of this capital city is that everything is close to Hobart. Those eager to explore beyond the city centre in any direction will stumble across vineyards, beaches, forests, historic towns, markets, museums and mountains right next door to the city itself.

And there's good reason well-known foodies have settled in southern Tasmania. The soil is rich, the water and air pure, and innovative locals serve up paddock to plate goodness. Growers and makers deliver everything from soft goat's cheese, smoked salmon and roadside apples to world class sparkling wine. Pick your own fresh produce direct from the source or pull up at a seat at a stylish eatery.

Tasmania may look little on the map, but it's brimming with things to do. Whether you're into art and culture, outdoor adventure or have a penchant for exploring the past, Tasmania has plenty to fill your day. Pull on some boots and venture into the wilderness, meet a maker, drive through vineyard landscapes or get up close to a Tassie devil. Perhaps you like the idea of cruising our waterways or browsing colourful market stalls. There are things to experience here that you can't do anywhere else on the planet.

Time to get out a pen and paper – it could be a quite a list.

ANNA POOLEY
POOLEY WINES

For Anna Pooley, making wine is about community. As a child, she loved being part of her family's first harvest and it sparked a fascination that never ceased. In high demand, she worked for some of Australia's biggest names in wine. Today she's returned to Pooley as an important member of Tasmania's wine community and its first third-generation winemaking family.

THINGS TO SEE AND DO

- MONA is the Museum of Old and New Art, displayed in a secular temple at Moorilla Estate: 6,000 square metres of artwork that will batter your beliefs.
- Each Saturday hosts Australia's best outdoor market on Salamanca Place – bargains and buskers, art and craft, food and wine, trash and treasure.

- Visit the pinnacle of spectacular Mt Wellington and see the entire city and its harbour below.
- Immerse yourself in the power of Port Arthur, its convict buildings, gardens, tours and captivating tales—an essential Tasmanian experience.
- Get back to nature – walk the Three Capes Track, take a day trip by ferry to Bruny Island or wander the pristine beaches of Tasmania's South.

VINØ TASMANIA

CARING FOR OUR LAND

Keep an eye out for this symbol on wine bottles, websites and promotional material, as well as at cellar door if you're visiting Tasmania.

Being located so far south, on an island exposed to the Roaring Forties, presents unique challenges for our growers and makers. Rain, lack of rain, hail, snow, wind (lots of wind), but also plentiful sunshine – it makes it hard and risky to craft these wines, but our people are very talented.

Part of their skill comes through application of the VinØ (pronounced vin zero) Tasmania Program, a way to measure, monitor and improve sustainability practices.

This program ensures that Tasmania's hard-working wine producers are doing everything they can to produce very high-quality wine without negative impacts on the environment or local community.

VinØ Tasmania program members understand the connection with the land and people and recognise that we are custodians with a responsibility to future generations.

The VinØ Tasmania program focuses on the following key areas of vineyard and winery management:

- The health of our soils, on which we rely on for high quality wine grapes
- Managing pest and disease pressures in an environmentally responsible manner
- Biodiversity – using natural flora and fauna to support land and vineyard health
- Measuring and minimising water use in vineyards
- Responsibly managing waste and recycling
- Looking after our valuable vineyard personnel, and the broader community

- Understanding the role that members play in biosecurity, with respect to the longevity of the sector
